

RED CROSS WOMEN OF COUNTY ENTER HEARTILY INTO PLANS FOR SOLDIERS' CELEBRATION

Outline of the Parade Discussed at Conference in Uniontown.

MANY FEATURES PLANNED

Member Human Cross to be One of Them; Miss Mabel Boardman, National Red Cross Worker, Unable to Come to County in Early Summer.

An enthusiastic meeting of the home-coming celebration committee of the Fayette county Red Cross chapter, held in Uniontown yesterday afternoon, discussed the preliminary plans for the parade and the Red Cross women of the county will play a most important part in the affair and extensive preparations will be necessary. The historical pageant which will be in charge of the women of the county was also discussed and an outline of it given. It is expected that 2,000 women will march with the Red Cross and approximately 1,800 more will be needed for the east and chorus of the historical pageant.

The women have an immense amount of hard work ahead of them to put their part of the celebration over successfully and they are tackling the job early. Committees for work on both the Red Cross and pageant throughout the county are being named. They will be announced later.

At the meeting yesterday a letter from Miss Mabel Boardman of Washington, D. C., one of the incorporators of the American Red Cross and also an executive head of the organization, was read in which she said she could not be here if the celebration was being held in the early part of the summer. In event Miss Boardman herself is unable to attend the celebration, she will be asked to recommend some other prominent Red Cross worker.

The parade plans were taken up yesterday and an outline of what the Red Cross proposes to have in line was discussed. Both the Fayette county chapter and the Point Marion chapter will be represented. A letter from Albert D. Mayer, chairman of the Point Marion chapter, said he was ready to cooperate with the Fayette county organization in making the affair a success. The women in charge of the work at Point Marion will be Mrs. J. C. Warman and Mrs. Albert Inks.

It is proposed that the women will march 10 abreast in the parade, all wearing white dresses, with the uniform Red Cross veil. Every branch will decide on the order of march to be worn by the women in its division. There will be 12 branches and 53 auxiliaries represented in the procession. The women will carry the Red Cross flag and every branch will carry a banner designating its identity. Each branch will also have a float. The chairman of each branch will march at the head of it. The parade will be headed by the Fayette county executive committee riding in a float. One feature of the parade will be seven women on horseback, carrying the American, Allied and Red Cross flags. There will be no automobiles with the exception of the floats. The parade will form on the South Side, the route to be determined later.

S. P. Ache of this city, chief executive of the Junior Red Cross of the county, will notify all branch chairmen of plans being made for the participation of the junior organization in the parade.

Another feature of the parade will be a human Red Cross. It will be composed of 72 women marching in close formation. All branches and the auxiliaries in their districts will be drilled in marching by an army officer preparatory to taking part in the parade. The pageant will be participated in by representatives of all parts of the county. In each town and section a chorus will be organized and directed by some local director. Later all the different chorus organizations will come together.

The first part of the pageant will be a scene of Iroquois Indians, followed by a scene of Washington and the French army and its retreat. A colonial man will also be given. Following this will be a scene representing the French army and Colonel Crawford. Then will be a representation of the industries of the county up to 1860 and next a scene depicting the Civil war. Then will follow another scene of industries bringing the date up to the time of the Spanish-American war. Then will be the world war followed by a closing scene with a peace and victory tableau.

Committees to take charge of this work in the various sections of the county will be announced later. During the celebration there will be a magnificent display of the work done by various branches and auxiliaries at the Red Cross headquarters. There will be a contribution from each of the departments on exhibition. Plans for the rest rooms and lunch Continued on Page Two.

WIDMER NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER, IS VERDICT OF THE JURY

Verdict Read This Morning in Case Growing Out of Death Last November of C. W. Crim.

A verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury in Uniontown in the case of Karl Widmer, Connellsville automobilist, charged with involuntary manslaughter in causing the death of C. W. Crim last November when Mr. Crim was run down by the defendant's car at Apple and Arch streets. A sealed verdict was returned. It was read at the opening of court this morning.

At 7 o'clock last evening the jury in the case of Tony Philippovich, who was charged with the murder of Earl Melich at Republic on February 22 last, brought in a verdict finding the defendant guilty of second degree murder and recommended him to the mercy of the court. The case was heard before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in Court Room No. 1.

The killing was the culmination of a quarrel in a boarding house in Republic in which one of the boarders after insisting on shooting through the wall engaged in a free for all fight with the other members of the drinking party in which several others were badly cut up and shot although they have since recovered. The jury retired at 6:45 yesterday afternoon.

PROBE TO BE BEGUN INTO CHARGES MADE BY TRADES COUNCIL

Mayor Orders Chief of Police to Summon Speakers at Monday Night's Meeting for Interrogation.

Mayor John Duggan this morning gave instructions to Chief of Police W. B. Bowers to notify Harry Kronick, an East Crawford avenue storekeeper, James M. Keane and S. Desmone to appear before council on Monday evening, April 14, the next meeting night.

The mayor wishes to have further testimony from Keane regarding a slot machine he alleges Kronick operates in his establishment and also wishes further information from Mr. Desmone regarding the immorality he declared at the last meeting was practiced even on the city streets.

The mayor was not present at the council session on Monday leaving early in the evening for Harrisburg to attend a convention there. Many matters came before the executive body in his absence and now the mayor wants to conduct a thorough investigation, especially of the charges of acts of prostitution being committed on the city streets.

At the meeting Monday, Mr. Desmone told of the immoral conditions in the city and said he witnessed a case on the streets. Keane protested to council about the use of a slot machine in Kronick's store in East Crawford avenue. The informant declared that young boys hung around the establishment until late at night. The mayor wants to know present at the next meeting. Keane to repeat his charge and he also wishes to hear Kronick's side of it.

MACADAM UNPOPULAR

State Highway Department Discouraging This Form of Surface.

W. M. Rhoades of Point Marion has asked the State Highway Department whether the state will approve macadam construction providing the township is not financially able to build brick or concrete. Replying to this query the department says: "We are endeavoring to discourage water-bound macadam type of highway on account of the very excessive maintenance expense. There are places where the Telford macadam can be used, and a penetration bituminous surfacing construction would be very much more satisfactory, whereas the cost would be slightly increased over macadam."

MILL RUN SOLDIER DIES

Earl R. Dettling Victim of Influenza; Name in List for Today.

The name of Earl R. Dettling of Mill Run appears in today's casualty list under the died of disease classification. The young soldier was about 22 years old and was one of the best known young men of Mill Run, having resided there most of his life. He was a son of John and Margaret Dettling of Mill Run, and was a draftsman of the 15th Engineers. His death is said to have been caused by influenza. In addition to his parents he is survived by two brothers, Bert Dettling of Vanderbilt and Clarence Dettling of Mill Run.

WAR TROPHY TRAIN WILL MAKE A STOP IN COLLELLSVILLE

Here From Early Morning Until 10:30 A. M. of Saturday, April 26.

EVERY KIND OF RELIC

From European Battlefields Will Be Exhibited; Noted Speakers, War Heroes and Skilled Round Salesmen to Aid in Boosting the Victory Loan.

The War Trophy Train, one of the agencies used by the government in boosting the Victory Loan, will visit Connellsville on Saturday, April 26. During the last loan campaign this train did not stop at Connellsville on its way from Scottsdale to Uniontown. Efforts were made to have Connellsville included in the itinerary, but without success. On the forthcoming trip Connellsville has been scheduled as a stop.

The train will arrive here early in the morning of April 26 from Meyersdale, where it will arrive at 5 o'clock on the evening preceding, after stops at Somerset, Rockwood and Berlin. The train will remain in Connellsville until 10:30 a. m., at which hour it will leave over the Pennsylvania railroad for Greensburg. After a swing through Westmoreland and Butler counties it will arrive at West Newton over the Baltimore & Ohio on Tuesday night, April 29, leaving at 11 a. m. the next day for Scottsdale where it will remain from 12:40 to 5:00 p. m. Thence it will go to Uniontown over the Pennsylvania, leaving there at 11 p. m. for Point Marion, thence to Brownsville and points in the Monongahela Valley.

The train consists of six cars and there will be on the train every conceivable trophy of the world war. Speakers of note accompany each train, together with the heroes of the actual fighting, and skilled round salesmen.

Posters and newspaper publicity will be sent out ahead of the train and every device for getting out the word will be put into the hands of the publicity secretaries of the local campaign committee. The salesmen accompanying the train will make sales, if the plan of the local committee will permit, and otherwise lend all the aid they can in promoting the best interests of the loan.

LOCKJAW FATAL

John Emilio Dies From Complication Following Ankle Mishap.

Tetanus caused from an injury suffered on Sunday, March 23, resulted in the death of John Emilio, 20 years old, of West Peach street, this morning at 1:45 o'clock at the Cottage State hospital. Emilio was injured when a motorcycle on which he and E. Hartman were riding, collided with an automobile owned by A. C. Siskel and driven by his chauffeur Denny Hickey. The accident occurred at Poplar Grove. Emilio's condition was not considered serious as he only suffered a laceration of the heel.

The body was removed to funeral Director J. L. Stader's parlors and will later be taken to the home of Emilio's father, Constantino Emilio.

BEST TALENT IN CITY SECURED FOR "WINTER GARDEN FROLIC" CAST

Next Soldier Benefit Play to Be Equal to Any Seen in the High Class Theatres.

The "Winter Garden Frolic," a musical play to be produced in Connellsville May 1, 2 and 3, under the direction of C. M. Couch of Pittsburgh will be a treat for local people. The play will be given on the order of "The Passing Show" from the New York Winter Garden and there will be something doing every minute.

The songs to be used are all the latest hits from the best musical shows now on the road and the choruses will all be made up of Connellsville's prettiest and most talented girls, assisted by well-known young men.

There will be about 125 people in the cast, using some very clever juvenile performers. A number of dance specialties will be given. The management has endeavored to procure the most popular vocalists, comedians, dancers and musicians in the city.

The settings will be quite elaborate and a number of different curtains will be used in connection with some of the specialties, all of which are the property of the A. J. Theatre in Pittsburgh. The costumes and lighting effects will surpass anything that has been seen in local amateur performances, and it is the desire to give the public as good a show as is usually seen only in the highest class theatres. All of the city's performers will appear at their best as it is the desire of the management to make each act his or her special effort to the best possible advantage.

Mr. Couch is one of the best known directors of amateur plays not only in Pittsburgh, but in almost all of the surrounding towns, also including the different colleges. He has a wide circle of friends among the W. & J. men, where he has directed many musicals and plays. He has directed a number of musical plays for the Seneca club of Uniontown, all of which were voted great successes. He also staged the musical for the Masonic Temple of Pittsburgh this winter, given in Syria Mosque, with a cast of over 200 people.

The tickets will go on sale next week and the entire proceeds will be given to the fund for the home-coming reception for soldiers and sailors. The price of the tickets will be a dollar, and the committee desires to impress upon the public the fact that full value in pleasure will be given to each purchaser.

The usual Thursday evening rehearsal will not be held tonight as Mr. Couch is producing a musical play in the Nixon theatre at Tarentum. However, from now on, he will devote his entire time to the Connellsville play.

A. O. STONE, MANUAL TRAINING TEACHER IN SCHOOLS, LEAVING

Popular Instructor in High School Begins to Take up High School Work in Beaver County.

A. O. Stone, manual training instructor at the high school, has resigned to become chief instructor of the Boy Scouts of Beaver county with headquarters at Rochester, Pa. The resignation takes effect on Friday, April 14.

Mr. Stone has been manual training instructor at the high school since that course was added to the curriculum in the fall of 1912. He has been very active in scout work in this city and through his efforts the movement has got a foothold here. He became scout commissioner when a Local Council was organized here but recently resigned, owing duties demanding his attention.

With the organization of Company G, Third Pennsylvania Militia, he became captain of that unit, which posting he is also resigning to go to Beaver county.

Mr. Stone will take up his duties in scout movement on May 1. After his resignation goes into effect here he will go to his home in Annapolis, Md., for a short time before becoming located at Rochester.

WILL CHARGE ADMISSION

Fear That Without It School Hall Won't Hold Spring Festival Crowds.

It was announced today that an admission of 25 cents will be charged at the high school tomorrow night for the spring festival to be given by the children.

It had been the intention to give it free, but it is feared if this was done the auditorium would not accommodate all who would attend.

FRANK VAN HORN, DAWSON, RESCUES WOUNDED COMRADE

Carries Him From Field of Battle When Hun Bullet Paralyzes Him.

HAS CLOSE CALL LATER

Same Comrade Hurts Grenade at German But It Fails to Explode and to This Fact Alone Dawson Soldier Owes His Life; Brother is Wounded.

Corporal Jesse Stoy, member of Co. G, 320th Infantry, recently returned from the front, paid a visit this week to Dawson, the home of his Army chum, Private Frank Van Horn of the same company and a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Horn and while there he told a number of interesting stories of their participation in the battle of the Argonne. Frank is still in France. How the latter carried Stoy from the battlefield after he had been wounded was one of the stories related; how Stoy nearly caused the death of Van Horn in an effort to get a German was another.

Stoy was wounded in battle in the Argonne forest on September 27. He was ordered by his captain to crawl to the rear. His wound, in the hip, seemed to paralyze his leg and he could make no headway. Van Horn saw him and heard the order.

"No he won't crawl back, by —," Van Horn shouted, according to the story told by Corporal Stoy. "I'll carry him back."

This he proceeded to do. Then, after administering first aid, he had him sent to a hospital. The young man did not need afterwards.

But for the failure to explode of a hand grenade Corporal Stoy might not be waiting today to start on the long crawl home. Stoy had been attempting to get the Hun but the fellow dodged him. As a last resort he hurled a grenade. A moment later he heard a shout, "I've got him," and Van Horn appeared with the prisoner. If the grenade had exploded both Van Horn and the German would probably have been killed, Corporal Stoy said.

The corporal also related a story of the capture of 50 Germans by the two young soldiers who were close friends after they became acquainted in the Army.

Corporal Stoy's home is at Washington, Pa., but he entered the service in Uniontown. He was at Dawson yesterday with a friend who is connected with the State Highway Department and while there took advantage of the opportunity to make a short call on Private Van Horn's father. He returned only recently from the front and still wears his uniform. He has about recovered from the wound. He is coming back when Frank goes home, he told the father.

Private Van Horn went through the war without being wounded. A brother, Corporal Theodore Van Horn, was less fortunate, being struck in the hand. He is back with his command, Company L, 326th Infantry, and is waiting for transportation home from Bordeaux, according to a recent letter to the parents. Discharge papers have been issued to the command, he said. The men are to land at Newport News and then go to Atlanta, Ga., to be in the interest of the Victory Loan and then be sent to Camp Lee for mustering out.

"THE COLONEL'S MAID"

Is Title of the Class Play to be Given By Graduates.

The class play to be given this year by the graduates of the Connellsville high school will be "The Colonel's Maid."

The cast for the play has not yet been announced. Rehearsals will be given in a few weeks, under the direction of Miss Margaret Baker, English instructor. Miss Baker was very successful last year with her first attempt at handling a class play and is choosing her cast for the coming production with care.

The names of the seniors, selected for parts in the play will probably be announced soon. The title of the class day exercises for this year has not yet been determined.

PEACE PRELIMINARIES WILL BE COMPLETE BEFORE EASTER, M. PINCHON TELLS JOURNALISTS

Excellent Reports at Annual Congressional Meeting; U. P. Church Holds Off Naming Pastor.

PRESBYTERIANS HAVE A YEAR OF PROSPERITY

That the year just closed was a very successful one for the First Presbyterian church was shown by the various reports submitted at the annual congregational meeting held last night in the church. The financial report showed an increase over that of the previous year. The amount raised for current expenses was $3,366; for the building fund, $2,916, and for benevolences, $2,238.

Officers were elected as follows: Elders, for three years, L. W. Wolfe, William Thomas and Joseph McClen; re-elected, deacons, for three years, R. G. Hall, re-elected, and D. L. Morgan; for two years, Harry Jennings; trustees, three years, H. George May and W. W. Smith.

The auditors are J. Raymond Meseriat, D. E. Treher and J. M. Young. Rev. J. L. Proudfoot presided over the first part of the meeting and F. E. Markell, president of the board of trustees, over the business session.

No definite action on the selection of a minister to succeed the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. W. J. Everhart was taken at the annual congregational meeting of the United Presbyterian church held last night in the church. A straw vote was taken and it was decided to ask some of the ministers who preached at the church since the death of Rev. Everhart to return for other trial sermons.

Various reports submitted showed the closing church year to be a very satisfactory one. It was reported that the expenditures and the money received during the year were approximately $7,000. The election of church officers resulted as follows: Trustees for three years, H. M. Chappening; financial secretary and treasurer, A. H. Long; assistant treasurer, J. C. Stauffer; secretary of the church debt fund, J. C. Long; chief usher, Dr. J. French Keir; educational clerk, W. H. Francis.

KOREANS TO SEEK INDEPENDENCE AT PEACE CONFERENCE

Appeal Representing Desire of Whole People and Protest Against Japanese Rule is Ready.

PARIS, April 3.—An appeal for the independence of Korea will be submitted to the peace conference before the end of the present week by a delegation headed by Kimde Kimo, representative of the new Korean Young Men's society. The appeal is declared to represent the vehement desire of almost the entire Korean nation as manifested by the present wide-spread passive resistance movement.

The document is accompanied by a long memorandum reciting the alleged injustice and unpopularity of Japanese rule and the harshness of the measures with which Japan is determined to be endeavoring to repress the nation's movement for liberation.

APPROVAL ASKED

For Sale of Local Power Companies to the West Penn Power Company.

Applications have been made to the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission by the West Penn Power company for certificates of public convenience evidencing the commission's approval of the sale to the West Penn company of a number of subsidiary light and power companies to which separate charters were granted.

These companies include the Wharton Power company, Henry Clay Power company, Markleysburg Power company, Saltlick Power company and Springfield Power company.

A public hearing on the application will be held at the rooms of the commission in Harrisburg on April 15.

PROBE DRUG TRAFFIC

Government Agents Here to Investigate Sale of "Dope."

Discovery by Assistant Postmaster T. B. Hyatt of "dope" being sent through the mails here has led to the arrest of a negro to whom one bundle was addressed and also to the conducting of an investigation into the sale of cocaine and morphine by druggists in the city.

Package from eastern points containing the druggists have been delivered to different persons in the city. After the discovery by Mr. Hyatt, the department of justice was notified and agents were sent here to investigate.

Status of Left Bank of Rhine Virtually Decided By Council.

MUST BE MADE NEUTRAL

Until Germans Have Paid Indemnity in Full; Work of Drafting League of Nations Covenant Complete; Hun Agents at Spa for a Conference.

By Associated Press. PARIS, April 3.—"I have always thought and think more than ever today that the peace preliminaries to be imposed upon Germany would be ready before Easter unless something unexpected arises," said Stephen Pichon, foreign minister, yesterday in reply to questions at a banquet given by French Republicans for journalists, according to the Matin.

NEUTRAL ZONE ON LEFT OF RHINE DECIDED. PARIS, April 3.—The council of four has virtually decided, according to information from French sources, that the left bank of the Rhine will be neutralized until Germany has paid the indemnity fixed by the peace conference. It is understood that French and Belgian troops will hold this territory, the United States claiming it to be impossible to leave troops in Europe after the signature of the peace treaty and England having insufficient troops to maintain garrisons along the Rhine. It is surmised that the visit of King Albert of Belgium to Paris was not unconnected with the share that Belgian troops will be asked to undertake in this territory.

WORK OF DRAFTING COMMISSION IS ALMOST COMPLETED. PARIS, April 3.—The drafting committee of the league of nations commission has finished work but has not passed upon the French amendment to Articles 8 and 9 as well as American and Japanese suggestions as to the Monroe Doctrine and the equality of nationalities. It is expected that the league of nations commissions will meet on Saturday to adopt a definite text of the covenant. President Wilson will act as chairman of the meeting.

ERZBERGER AND STAFF ARRIVE AT SPA. SPA, Wednesday, April 3.—Mathias Erzberger, head of the German armistice commission, arrived here today, accompanied by a number of technical and other advisers, including the chief burgomaster of Danzig. Before leaving Berlin Erzberger had a final consultation with representatives of parties at which an agreement was reached as to the attitude to be adopted in the negotiations with Allied representatives here. It seems that the sentiment of the Germans is favorable to a settlement of the Danzig controversy.

FRENCH IDEAS ON PEACE SETTLEMENT WIN APPROVAL. PARIS, April 3. (Havas).—Several members of the French peace delegation assured the Matin that French ideas on the peace treaty and other matters are gaining ground and that an understanding has been almost, if not entirely, reached on the subject of the financial demand to be imposed on Germany the Echo D'Paris says that the council of four believes that Germany will be able to pay immediately six billion francs in money of various kinds, deliveries of raw materials and manufactured goods from Germany it says will reach an undetermined sum which some optimists estimate will amount to 30 million francs.

BITTER DOSE FOR HUNS

Must Obtain Permission of French to Move Troops Over Own Territory.

By Associated Press. COBLENZ, April 3.—German troops opposite the Coblenz bridgehead began moving early Thursday toward Frankfurt where a Spartacan revolt has been causing disorder. Before entering Frankfurt, which is the neutral zone beyond the French bridgehead based on Mayence, the German military authorities had to obtain permission from the French 16th army.

WAR HAS ENDED. Such Is Decision of Federal Judge at Louisville, Ky.

By Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, April 3.—In line with an informal statement from the bench on March 21, Federal Judge Walter Evans, in an opinion today, handed down a decision finding that the war in Europe legally is at an end and that a plea for a new trial on conviction of violating war-time military regulations after the armistice was signed has standing in court.

REDUCTION OF SEVEN PER CENT IN NUMBER RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

Total was 11,601, of which 1,327 were Fatal; Trespassers and Automobile Riders were Chief Victims.

While accidents on the steam railroads of the state decreased seven per cent last year as compared with 1917 there was still a total of 11,601. The annual statement issued by the Bureau of Accidents of the Public Service Commission shows that as a result of "railroad accidents last year 1,327 people were killed and 11,612 hurt.

Of the 1,327 killed 517 were trespassers upon railroad rights of way 531 were employees, 219 were travelers over grade crossings while 24 were passengers the safest place as far as trains are concerned apparently being on one.

Both the lists of the employees killed and the people killed at grade crossings show a decrease. Of the number killed at grade crossings 106 were occupants of automobiles 23 of wagons while 90 were pedestrians. Of the number of pedestrians killed a large percentage was made up of people who had crawled under safety gates. Seven crossing watchmen were killed and 14 were injured in endeavoring to prevent accidents.

The number of accidents on trolley lines was 1,835 an increase of 9 per cent. The number of people killed was 244; the number of passengers being 26 and the number of employees 23. As compared with the previous year this represents a decrease of 39 per cent as to passengers and an increase of 109 per cent as to employees.

WOULD OPEN GRAVEYARDS

To Oil and Gas Drillers Bill is finally Passed.

HARRISBURG, April 3.—The House yesterday passed on first reading a bill which would allow the drilling of oil and gas wells through the graves of the dead and the mining of coal from beneath the last resting place of those interred in church yards and other cemeteries.

This legislation would make it lawful for all incorporated or unincorporated churches, cemetery companies and burial associations now prevented by charter restrictions or otherwise from leasing or selling any coal or other minerals to sell lease or convey said coal and other minerals, subject to such conditions as will insure the support of the overlying surface.

The use of the words "or other minerals" would open the grave yards to the oil and gas drillers.

GEORGE LAYHEW KILLED

Former Vanderbilt Man Struck by Train at Mt. Sterling

George Edwin Layhe, 41 years old, of Albion, N. Y. was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon when struck by a freight train as he was walking along the tracks near Mount Sterling station. Layhe was born at Vanderbilt and had been working around the section of Brownsville for the past three years. He had worked at Albion, N. Y. since he was a boy. He was the son of a farmer and had a wife and three children. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at Albion. The body was removed to Albion and will be buried there.

LIVING MEMORIALS TO SOLDIERS.

While the primary object of the spring Arbor Days, April 11 and 25, is to promote the planting of trees, as a part of a general reforestation and conservation plan, Governor Sprout has expressed the desire that these days be given a new significance this year by planting native trees in memory of soldiers who lost their lives on the battlefields of Europe.

"It is a patriotic impulse," says the governor, "to preserve the names of heroes who have made the supreme sacrifice, in a long-lived tree."

This suggestion is to be acted upon in many parts of the state, the occasion of the planting to be made a very simple ceremony with a brief but appropriate program. Where observed it is certain to leave a lasting impression, especially upon the minds of the younger generation. If these trees are planted in a public place there will develop an interest in their care, preservation and growth that will be stimulating to the children and will create a tender attachment between them and the object of their solicitude, and reverence for the memory of soldier dead, as they develop into man and woman.

The living memorial will make a stronger appeal to those who have witnessed its growth from year to year, and tend to keep much more vividly alive a remembrance of the one who is thus honored, than an inanimate marble shaft which is often located where it is seen but rarely, or if seen frequently, loses its interest because of its unchanging character, aspect, and dimensions.

It would be a fitting recognition of the suggestion of Governor Sprout, as well as a graceful tribute to the honorable members of his administration, if the students of the high school would observe one of the arbor days in planting trees upon the high school lawn to commemorate the memory of former students who have yielded up their young lives in the service of our country.

The grassplots in front of the building would be improved by ornamentation. If trees were planted in honor of former students the school children in later years would find in these living memorials a never to be forgotten
lesson in patriotism and self sacrifice and a stimulus to high endeavor.

The necessary arrangements for such an observance of the day need not be elaborate nor require much time or effort in their preparation.
Simply in the ceremony would add to its impressiveness and be in harmony with the spirit with which these honored dead passed out from among us when taking upon themselves the duties of a soldier.

BLUFFING IN GERMANY.

While there is a certain peril to an early conclusion of peace in the attitude Germany has assumed with respect to signing a treaty, it is difficult for most persons to distrust themselves of the impression that the threats of what she will do, or refuse to do, are but idle bluff. Likewise it is believed that the uprisings in Hungary and other countries, under the guise of Bolshevism, are nothing more than stage plays to frighten the Peace Conference with the new bogie in the hope that concessions will be granted Germany as a means of staying the westward march of the scourge that has left Russia impotent as a nation.

The announcement of Ludendorff that a peace treaty which embodies matters not included in President Wilson's "14 points" will be resisted, "and the people will refuse to bow down to the enemy's dictation," comes in the same category. The objection to the landing of Polish troops at Danzig, even if backed up by reinforcement of the armistice at that port, is just as evident in its purpose although more militant in its aspect. All of these protests, avowals and threats have the common object of creating dissensions among the Allies at the Peace Conference, or inspiring the delegates with the fear that hostilities will be renewed by Germany rather than
"consent to a peace portending Germany's annihilation."

Fortunately a conference is not being fooled by any of these subterfuges, but it lacks unity of action on so many matters that have come before it that the delay in the treaty negotiations has left Germany under the impression that her game of bluff is succeeding. But the German character is better understood now than at the beginning of the war, hence the true significance of her pretenses is also better understood and estimated.

Meanwhile the prudent precaution has been taken to give Marshal Foch instructions what to do the moment the Huns attempt to give the semblance of reality to a bluff or boast following refusal of the demand to "sign on the dotted line."

Taking their cue from an historic utterance heard during the war, the Japs declare they are "too proud to accept a place of admitted inferiority in dealing with associate nations," as the so-called "racial discrimination" provision of the constitution of the League of Nations would deal with the question of immigration. But how about the associate nations having a pride of their own when it comes to making choice of new citizens?

There is a suspicion that at least some of the most lurid features of the "epoch of terror" the Bolsheviks were to start in Pittsburgh, beginning with the seizure of the arsenal, exist in the imagination of the slouch.

By its stubborn refusal to buy steel for necessary track repairs and extensions the Railroad Administration seems determined to block the line for the passage of the business revival special.

Leave it to the Italian contingent to stage one of the striking features of the Home-Coming Celebration.

If the cut in brick prices had included building brick it would have helped to lay a foundation for a house building boom.

If the Germans keep up fighting among themselves long enough they may get it out of their system.

The spring festival of the school children tomorrow night should serve as an occasion for the old timers to become kiddies again just for one night.

Will the latest announcement of the sailing date of the 15th Engineers turn out to be an April 1 joke?

Tales of T. R.

T. R. and the Baby That Drowned
Him Out.

Copyright, 1919, by Roosevelt Permanent Memorial National Committee.

Roosevelt, running for Vice-President, was addressing a mass meeting
in one of the larger towns in Ohio.
Two or three thousand people had gathered to hear him. He had spoken but a few minutes, when a baby in its mother's arms awoke and looking around began to scream at the top of his voice. The mother could not quiet him. The crowd began to scowl and mutter, for no one within range of the baby's voice could hear Roosevelt at all.

He stopped his speech and raised his hand. "That poor baby is frightened almost to death by all these people," he said. "He cannot help screaming!" Then he turned directly to the perturbed and unhappy mother.
"Madam," he asked, "Would you like to get out of the crowd with him?"

She nodded her head and he said,
"My friends, I know how closely you are packed in here, but if you will make yourself just as small as you can I am sure you can open a pathway for this woman to get her poor frightened baby away from this crowd."

A pathway was made and as the crowd settled back to a listening mood he said, with the smile that was new to people there. "You see, I know all about babies for I've had six of them myself."

The hearts of the people were touched. "I don't know," said one shrewd politician in the crowd, "but what Teddy's kindness to that mother has made more votes for him today than his speech."

Just Folks

Robert A. Gussel.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

It happened this way: His folks said
the very day that they were wed that she was not at all the kind of wife they'd hoped that he would find.

And the folks wondered what she saw to love in such a son-in-law.
And from the time the knot was tied Trouble was brewed on every side.

His folks insisted he should do
the things he'd been accustomed to,
and he folks argued, day by day
that she should go another way.

There wasn't anything they planned
But what the old folks took a hand
In and it ended in a sad heart.

I've known them both for years and years,
And when she came to me in tears
And told her story, straight and fair,
I guess the angels heard me swear He'd left her. Gone back home, of course.

And now was talking of divorce,
And then she blushed and whispered
how.

I grabbed my hat and went for him
And found him sorrowful and grim.
And I was glad, for I could see
That he was growing sane as she.
I'm not recalling all I said;
To think of it my cheeks turn red,
I told him that old folks are fools,
In language never taught in schools.

He's back, and they are happy now.
The old folks, though are wondering
how.

It came about it seems so strange
That he and she one day should
And suddenly announce that they Were going to live their lives their way.

They say he swore! I wish I knew
If he said all I told him to.

APRIL.

When April comes the welkin hums
With cries of human gladness;
The winter's past and Spring at last has come to our sad hearts. The birds re-

SCHOOL GROUNDS FOR TENNIS

Members of Local Club Petition School Board for Permission to Make Use of Plot at Chestnut Street Building for Purpose; Other News Mentioned.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTSDALE, April 3.—The Ladies' Missionary Society of the United Brethren church met at the church yesterday afternoon and held the first meeting of the year with the newly-elected officers in their places. Arrangements were made for the board meeting to be held here April 11 to 15. Refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. D. L. Sherrick as chairman.

Tennis Court Needed.
At a meeting of the board of education on Monday evening a petition was presented by the Tennis Club asking for the use of the grounds at the Chestnut street school building for a tennis court. The petition was referred to the property and operation committee. The supervising principal called the attention of the board to the very low percentage of attendance but stated that there had been indications of improvement during the past few weeks. James R. Campbell, H. M. Ruth, Dr. O. I. Hess and J. N. Waugaman were appointed a committee on commencement.

April Fool Party.
Mrs. J. V. Stoner of Mulberry street entertained the E. A. T. club at her home on Tuesday evening with an April Fool Day party. The evening was a round of merriment, as joke after joke and trick after trick was played on the guests by a carefully arranged program. Refreshments were served. Thirty persons were present.

Lost.
A silk umbrella with silver handle. Name J. L. Murphy engraved on handle. Ten dollars reward will be paid to the person returning the umbrella to the Murphy store, or giving information leading to recovery of same.—Adv.—3-11.

Dames of Malta Entertained.
The Dames of Malta and friends numbering 50 gathered at the Eleanor Avenue home of Mrs. H. G. Beeg on Tuesday evening and gave her a very pleasant surprise in honor of her birthday. Many beautiful presents were received. Games were played. Music was a feature of the evening. Refreshments were served.

Chi-Ro Club to Meet.
The Chi-Ro club will hold its first meeting and social Monday evening, April 8, at the Y. M. C. A.

TEAMSTER'S LIFE SAVED

WRITES LETTER THAT IS WORTH READING VERY CAREFULLY.

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.: I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried salve, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William H. West, West Park, Ohio, March 22, 1919, care P. O. Box 192.

Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Piles and Skin Diseases."

Peterson's Ointment is 25 cents at all druggists, and there isn't a broad-minded druggist in America that won't praise it.—Adv.

Miss Mayme Holt and Earl Wolfe were married in Cumberland Tuesday evening. They returned to Ohioville Wednesday morning.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"TREAT 'EM ROUGH"—A five-part William Fox production, with Tom Mix in the role of a roving gun man, is being shown today. This is a western drama built from the ground up and contains much that will astonish and amuse the observers. The production reflects the west in every department. Jane Novak plays the part of the heroine in a very charming manner, while Charles LeMayne makes an interesting villain. A selected comedy is also being shown.

Tomorrow and Friday Theda Bara will appear in "When Men Desire," the story of a woman who is destined in Germany because she is a woman of great charm. Do what she may to get across the border, where her American lover is awaiting her, she always falls into the clutches of the German officials who try to make love to her. At last she poses as a notorious woman, whose passports she obtains, and soon, after harrowing adventures, she effects her escape. Miss Bara has a role that fits her perfectly and she wears many striking costumes. She is supported by an excellent cast, including Fleming Ward, G. Raymond Nye, Florence Martin and others.

Monday and Tuesday Anita Stewart, the charming screen star, will be seen at the Paramount in "From Headquarters."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE HAND INVISIBLE"—The new World picture featuring Montague Love, the famous and popular star, in a strong dramatic role is being shown today. The role assumed by Mr. Love is that of a man who a veritable Napoleon of finance, and a man who, like Napoleon, divorces his first wife because she does not present him with a son and heir. He then marries a girl who does not really love him and who dies at the time her son is born. The man worships the son beyond anything in life. And then late in life he makes a discovery, something that he never thought of, a thing so tremendous that he can scarcely comprehend it. The discovery kills him, but the boy does not learn what caused his father's death. The picture has been staged in a big manner that the strength and unusual character call for. The part that Mr. Love has is one of the best he has ever had and those people who are familiar with his work in his many

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES

Scaled Over Face and Neck.
Itched, Cuticura Heals.

"About a year ago I was bothered with small red pimples on my face. The pimples scaled over my face and neck and they were scaly. They itched and I was always scratching. I lost sleep and my face was disfigured."

"I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I bought more, and I used two cakes of Soap and a box of Ointment when I was healed." (Signed) H. Inacker, Jr., 642 E. Ontario Street, Philadelphia, Pa., July 22, 1918.

Having cleared your skin keep it clear by using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for daily toilet purposes. The Soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal.

Cuticura Talcum Powder—Do not fail to test the fascinating fragrance of this exquisite talcum powder, dusting and skin perfuming powder. Delicate, delightful, dignified, it imparts to the person a charm incomparable and peculiar to itself. Sample of Cuticura Soap Ointment and Talcum free by mail, address: "Cuticura, Dept. R, Boston." Sold everywhere at 25c each.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible even or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of some one who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness at home and it made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parment (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parment is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—Adv.

STAGE HAS DRAWBACKS

Dark Pictures of Life of Actress Painted by Muriel Pratt.

LONDON, March 8. (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—A dark picture of life on the stage was drawn by Miss Muriel Pratt, a well-known London actress, in a speech the other day.

"The discomfort of a theatre," she said, even in the West End, if one is lucky enough to have a 'star' dressing room, is extraordinarily disagreeable. The draughts from the theatre, the coldness in winter, the heat in summer, and the entire lack of any form of comfort even in London, would be enough to deter most people, even if they knew it beforehand, from going on the stage.

"In the provinces it is 50 times worse, and the music-halls are indescribably uncomfortable. They are dirty, they are cold, there is absolutely no comfort of any kind. The journeys are bad, and one spent most of one's time waiting about cold stations. It is impossible to get food, and the whole lot of the life of the stage, even to people who can raise protests, and do their best to help themselves, is painful and horrible."

MILLION BOND ISSUE

Washington County Will Float It for Road Improvement.

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Washington county has acquired the habit of issuing bonds to cover the cost of road construction to such an extent that it will undertake a new bond issue for $1,000,000, confident that it will have the overwhelming support of the voters. Highway Commissioner Sadler was informed by a delegation representing the Washington County Good Roads' association.

Washington county is one of the pioneer road builders in Pennsylvania. It has had 18 bond issues covering the cost of road construction and four bond issues covering the cost of new bridges. The plans of the Washington authorities call for the construction of 30 to 35 miles of road.

Mint Jell

Try Mint Jiffy-Jell with roast lamb or cold meats. It is vastly better than mint sauce. Try Jiffy-Jell desserts with their real fruit flavors in essence form, in vials. Each is so rich in condensed fruit juice that it makes a real fruit dainty. Yet they cost no more than old-style gelatin desserts.

Yes, They Reached Paris

A Yank smiles over a few of the German helmets on the steps of the Treasury Building at Washington.

AT CURRENTLY marks prices the helmets show in the above picture a very small fraction of a mill.

If you will to figure it out for yourself here are the statistics: Eighty-five thousand of the parent father covered helmets sold for one dollar. The Treasury Department bought them from the War Department.

The helmets were found by the Tanks who captured them after the signing of the armistice. They will be awarded as prizes for the best Victory Loan salesman and saleswomen in the drive which is to begin April 21, and to school children over the country who write the best Victory Loan essays.

Drawings are in the extreme. The helmets had been saved from the war to be given to the children. The helmets had their grand entry at the Paris in American box cars and went right through to the seaboard without ever getting so much as a passageway from the Parisians.

LESSON FOR GANG

The Care of Job and Quit Spilling Over.

Station Post Shows Great Advantages of a Little Hardship That Increases Man's Appreciation of His Privileges.

"Don't hurry away, but sit down and talk; that's the popular recreation nowadays," said Leonard V. Whence, the village philosopher, to the interested listener, Glenn M. Farcy, who in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, "We have progressed so fast and so far in the last two or three decades, and arrived at such a complicated and dizzy organized system of civilization, that we are practically tied up in a web of our own weaving; the web has thrown us into confusion, so the world has called a square man's meeting, and we are trying to talk ourselves out of it. Everybody has a remedy for repairing the system, and we are all standing around giving our tests, and the resultant chorus is something to make angels weep."

"Thirdly, a place to sleep and a little amusement is all I want of," said the interested listener. "What are they, and where?" My idea would be for the whole gang to stop talking and go to work."

"Did you read about that little creek all the other day?" said Whence. "He was washed ashore, with a barrel of port wine, a photograph and a box of soda crackers, and by him he fought the rest of the party. They had to haul him and every man of them up. He was in favor of the simple life, but they brought him back home and dumped him into a comfortable bed. Man wants to live here below, but he makes an awful fuss about getting it."

"I know," said the listener. "Our landlady gave us ten thousand of burned words at the breakfast table because the phone was out of order, the butcher's boy was late with the meat and the electric lights were short circuited."

"The more people get," said Whence, "the more they want, and the harder they are to please. Things have come so easy they have lost the appetite. A little hardship is a good thing once in a while, if for nothing more than to increase a man's appreciation of his privileges. Everything is relative; sunshine and fresh air, without any trimmings at all, are heaven enough to the guy who gets up from a sick bed, and even a ham sandwich is a blessed piece of heaven to a hungry man. He is American, full of food and comfort to the neck, standing around and wondering what is the matter, and listening to the orators of discontent. In hard times all people pray for is a job, and in good times they get pious, proud and want an endorsement. Probably the Almighty sends us into tough going to make us appreciate our good fortune when it comes."

"Well, I get my little lesson here every day," said the listener. "When I get the little envelope I'm full of joy and optimism that I spill over."

"That is what the world has yet to learn," said Whence. "It's got to learn to take care of its job, and quit spilling over."

Guest—Needn't say, we'll with to-morrow and a cream puff.

STRANGE VISITORS TO INDIANS

Savages Not Unnaturally Alarmed When Airmen "Dropped In" to Their Village.

Army aviators stationed at France field, near Cristobal, in the Panama canal zone, are required to do much of their flying over water and along the coast. Recently two pilots made a flight to the Gulf of St. Blas, which is situated on the Atlantic coast about one hundred miles west of France field. The mainland and small islands in the Gulf are inhabited by Indians, who are very unfriendly.

Due to the overheating of a motor one of the pilots was compelled to descend to the Gulf of St. Blas, which is situated on the Atlantic coast about one hundred miles west of France field. The mainland and small islands in the Gulf are inhabited by Indians, who are very unfriendly.

"The chief of the village very reluctantly took his place at the head of his band of about a dozen men, and he was very friendly. The chief of the village very reluctantly took his place at the head of his band of about a dozen men, and he was very friendly. The chief of the village very reluctantly took his place at the head of his band of about a dozen men, and he was very friendly.

Has Biblical Sanction.

The American Home Education society thinks it has made a point by showing that "Spare the rod and spoil the child" cannot be found in the Bible, but was written by Samuel Butler in 1633. Butler probably got the alternative "spare and spoil" from Ralph Vaughan, who used it in 1640, but the idea goes back to Proverbs 13:24: "He that spareth his rod hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him with the rod." We are with the Home Education society (and the chastening) in questioning the dominance of selfish love in the average "chastening," but cannot approve of its quibbling as to the quotation, so far as substantial sanction, goes.

But most people would be surprised to learn that the words were not scriptural, justly they would be to learn that there is no direct statement about the rod and the lamb lying down together. Many still think "God tempests the wind to the sinner" is from the Bible, although Sterne quoted it, without credit, from Henry Estienne. Wesley's rogue quotation of an ancient Hebrew "Cleanliness is next to godliness" sounds like Bible. Numerous passages from hymns are also erroneously ascribed to scripture.—New York Times.

The support of the Fifth Liberty Loan by the American people will be the measure of our welcome to our returning soldiers.

CAP and BELLS

Addressing the multitude.

"Every cloud has its silver lining," remarked the chronic quoter.

"Sure, thing," answered the chap with the clown hat (he had a garden-breath). "I once knew a man who developed into a great public speaker by his wife's relatives visiting him frequently."

Breaking the News.

"Father, was writing done on tablets of stone in the old days?"

"Yes, my son," replied the dutiful parent.

"Good," nodded the boy. "Then it must have taken a crowbar to break the news."

Two of a Kind.

Miss Pruitt (prominently)—Oh, yes, Norm, I was once engaged for a week at the seashore.

Norm—Why, so was Ol' mum. In one of them seashore shell places; and heggory, Ol' quit before me wake was up."

A Stern Victor.

"When Frank proposed to Irene he offered her his name and three-quarters of his weekly salary."

"Did she accept him?"

"No. She insisted on nothing less than an unconditional surrender."

Before and After.

"The woman says you know," remarked the chronic quoter.

"Facts speak," snorted the sarcastic guest. "It's the man who pays. Before marriage he pays her attention. Afterward he pays her bills."

BEFORE AND AFTER.

Wife—You used to think there was nobody just like me.

Hubby—Now I'm sure of it.

Different Kinds.

Ambition sometimes has been known to start poor mortals wrong; The one ambition that they own is just to last long.

How It Happened.

"Poor Cholly is so empty-headed I wonder what is the matter with him."

"That doesn't explain it."

"Yes, it does; by mistake they gave him a vacuum bottle."

Taking Precautions.

The Salesperson—Yes, we can fix up a white flag for you. But what's the idea?

Henry N. Perk—It'll be late cutting home tonight and I want to be sure my wife doesn't open fire on me.

His Feet.

"The staid old fellow did a very contradictory thing in putting the weather signal on the church steeple."

"How so?"

"He was successful in a true attempt."

Drawing the Line.

"So you are a burglar!" said the prison visitor.

"Yes, I like other people's property, but I haven't the heart to be an unchristian and get it by rough work."

The New Standard.

Friend—Haven't you sold your new book?

Novelist—No. The editor says it hasn't got enough action to make a photoplay.—Film Fun.

Fine Idea.

Grubster—I understand he was dissatisfied with his lot in life.

Hubber—Yes, but he mortgaged it and bought an automobile and now enjoys himself.

About the Same Thing.

Hawthorne—Were you ever under a cloud?

Jewett—Well, I've walked with my wife when she had her hair cut on.

Undersea Photos.

Prof. W. H. Longley, of Goulay college, Baltimore, has completed a set of thirty-two underwater photographs of the brilliantly colored tropical fish which inhabit the waters of Hawaii. Taken with a specially designed camera, Prof. Longley hopes to develop the plates to reproduce the natural colors. He believes they are the first photographs of the kind taken. The plates have been packed in airtight cases for shipment to Baltimore, where they will be developed.

REVIVAL COMES TO CLOSE

Forty-six converted, 21 received into Broad Ford Church.

The revival meetings at Dry Hill in the Hickory Square Methodist Protestant church which extended over a period of two and a half weeks were brought to a close Tuesday night. The meetings were in every sense a great success and went beyond the expectations of the older members. The large audience with delegations from Dawson and Connellsville witnessed a very impressive and beautiful scene when 11 persons who had been saved during the meetings were received into the church.

Rev. H. A. Baum was present and preached a strong sermon. During the altar service six persons came forward, Miss Mary Parvill and Mrs. J. H. Laubertson sang "He Was Nailed to the Cross." The results of the meetings are as follows: Spiritual condition of the church deepened and revived, 46 conversions, four baptisms, 21 accessions, with others to join in the near future.

Prison for Bigamists.

LONDON, April 2.—Judgment of penal servitude for a punishment for bigamists has been suggested by a Scottish judge and by the common sergeant at Old Bailey. The sergeant in imposing a sentence of one year's imprisonment upon an offender quoted and approved the suggestion of the Scottish judge and added that bigamy is now becoming a very serious offense.

FORMER CONNELLSVILLE BRAKEMAN IS ARRESTED FOR SOLICITING ELOPERS

COMBERLAND, Md., April 3.—Complaints having been made by taxi drivers of this city, Edgar Emerick, former Baltimore & Ohio Railroad freight brakeman, was arrested Tuesday by Patrolman Betz on suspicion. It is alleged that Emerick solicited "wedding couples" on the trains thus preventing the local taxi men from getting them when they arrived in this city. It is said Emerick after sighting a couple would tell the nearly married pair he would aid them in getting a license, take them to any minister in town and although they would be forced to walk it would be much cheaper as his fee was not quite as large as the men in the business here. Charges of alleged non-handling will be brought against him. Emerick, a Pennsylvanian, until Monday had been in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, working as a brakeman on freight trains between this city and Connellsville, Pa. According to testimony brought out at the hearing Tuesday during the time he was not working he would ride on trains coming into this city from the west and solicit wedding couples. As this is against the rules of the road he was reported and consequently is said to have lost his position, which, however, did not prevent him from continuing his work on the trains. When he arrived in this city yesterday he was arrested. It is understood that a number of employees of the road have been making a practice of getting the would-be-married couples before they arrive here. Several more were picked up yesterday and warned. A number of men in this city depend upon the taxi business for a livelihood and made complaint against the railroad men. Many wedding couples arrive in this city daily from points in Pennsylvania and the business, no doubt, proved profitable to those engaged in it.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell. Because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Properly prepared, though, at home is easy and trouble-free. At little cost, you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

GERMANY MAKES READY TO CLAIM SHARE OF TRADE

Vigorous Campaign for Entry Into World Markets Already Under Way, Allies Learn.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—German preparations for re-entering world markets proceed vigorously in many lines of trade despite the social and political unrest disturbing the country, according to an official report to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Recognizing that official Germany will be in dispute for years to come, business interests are acting independently of the government, especially in urging the establishment in foreign countries of German boards of trade and publication of a standard economic journal to stimulate interest in German wares. Liberal use of motion pictures as an educational measure is recommended.

One of the important new undertakings in Germany is the Technical Fair of Leipzig, intended to promote the trade interests of manufacturers of machinery, electrical apparatus, tools, chemicals, etc. It includes a brokers' bureau to exploit the commercial value of scientific inventions.

Special attention to development of commercial relations with the Balkans, the Caucasus, and Persia is given by the Company for Home and Foreign Undertakings, of Hamburg, a $3,000,000 corporation whose activities have been watched with interest by business men of the Allied countries. The Austro-German eastern group of this organization was said to contemplate several large commercial and agricultural enterprises in Turkey.

While business interests are working independently, governmental agencies, nevertheless, are not idle. The ministers of Prussia, Bavaria and Wurttemberg have provided funds to finance scientific expeditions in other countries.

THEY STAND THE TEST OF HARD WEAR

4275 miles is the distance walked by H. M. Foreman on one pair of Neolin Soles. Mr. Foreman, who is a postman in Allentown, Pa., says "The shoes with Neolin Soles gave me continuous service for 9 1/2 months, during which time I averaged 18 miles a day. Ordinary shoes last me about one month."

If you are hard on shoes, follow Mr. Foreman's example and buy them with Neolin Soles. These soles are created by Science to be especially tough and durable. Therefore, Neolin-soled shoes wear a long time, and so cut your shoe bills down. Good shoe stores carry them in many styles for men, women, and children.

And have your old shoes re-bottomed with Neolin Soles. Remember—they are comfortable and waterproof, also. Neolin Soles are made by The Good-year Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

NIGHT WORK TO BE ELIMINATED BY THE BAKERS

National Organization of Workers to Place Ban on Hours from 11 P. M. Until 5 A. M.

CHICAGO, April 3.—The baking industry in America may be completely revolutionized if organized labor carries out its demands for abolition of night work, according to leading master bakers.

The national headquarters here of the Bakers' and Confectionary Workers' International Union of America has sent an address to every local in the country urging that formal demand for abolition of work between 11 P. M. and 5 A. M. be made when wage scales for the year are presented to employers on May 1.

Each local will be permitted to take such steps as it seems necessary to enforce the demands. In vigorously opposing the demands, master bakers assert that 75 per cent of bakery goods is produced after midnight, that the public demands fresh bread each morning, and that the change would mean a reduction of output or necessary expansion of plants. In either case, they say, the cost of the 1,500,000 loaves of bread produced daily in Chicago would be increased to the consumer and that other cities probably would follow the same course.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Pain Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if the medicine of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was hopeless.

Allenru relieves at once, immediately after you start to take it. The good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Pleased relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days. Connellville Drug Co. can supply you—Adv.

COWLER PROVED GAME IN LATE BOUT

Australian Took Severe Beating From Billy Miske.

St. Paul Heavyweight Never Let Opponent Get Set for a Punch—Minnesota Fighter Injured His Hand in Second Round.

Tom Cowler, the Australian heavyweight, while he failed to show championship caliber in his recent bout with Billy Miske of St. Paul, proved to be a game boxer with his heart in the right place, writes Billy Recap in Philadelphia Ledger. Few men would have gotten up after being sent to the floor like Cowler was in the first round. Miske caught him with a right-hand lead flush on the jaw with all of his 180 pounds back of it. The Australian was up at the count of seven. His eyes were glassy, legs a-tremble and his arms dropped to his side. Miske tore in to finish him and Cowler instinctively clinched until he got his bearings. After that round he stood up and took all that Miske could hand out. And he took a lot too—enough to send half a dozen ordinary men to dreamland.

That Miske tried to win by the knockout route no one can deny. He unfortunately injured his right hand in the latter part of the second round, by hitting Cowler on top of the head. The blow practically put Miske's right hand out of commission, for he was unable to use it effectively in any of the succeeding rounds. The first punch which Cowler took in the first round exhausted all his steam. His blows lacked force, were ill-timed and his judgment of distance was execrable. That is why Miske beat him in such a decisive fashion. The St. Paul heavyweight never let Cowler get set for a punch. He was on top of the Australian each minute of the 18 they were in action.

We are prepared to take care of your Printing wants in all classes of Printing, from a business card to a three-color broadside. By saying we are prepared, we mean to give you the very best of workmanship, consistent with high grade materials at the least possible prices without affecting upon the prices.

A Few Timely Hints and Facts for the Business Man

MR. BANKER

Perhaps you may be running short of supplies. If so, call upon us and we are sure we can supply you with your needed wants.

How about a nice neat BLOTTER or pamphlet to hand out to your customers, something new and out of the ordinary way of advertising.

This we are sure will make a nice appearance and is bound to promote business.

MR. MERCHANT

If there is anything you need in the printing art come to the "House of Service." We always aim to give satisfaction and the way we handle your work will amaze you.

Why not try us out and see if we can compete with other firms. When it comes to "Service" we are hard to beat. Always bear in mind what "Service" means.

MR. MANUFACTURER

You are very familiar with the eyes of the public in knowing there is only one way to sell High Grade Merchandise and that is: TO ADVERTISE. We are taking this means to call your attention to the High Grade Merchandise we have to offer you and are sure we can duplicate the forms used in your office. It makes no difference as to how many colors they are printed in or what grade or color of paper.

ENGRAVING

If you have any work in the engraving line let us know. We take orders in all kinds of engraving and promise to give you our closest attention to same. We carry a High Grade line of assorted samples and if you are anticipating anything in this line would be glad to show you our line at any time.

LOOSE LEAF LEDGERS

How about a new Loose Leaf Ledger to replace that old worn out one you are now using. We know you have been intending to replace it but didn't have time to bother with it. Call at our office at any time and let us help you select one. We are sure you will be satisfied with what we have. This makes it easier for you and less time will be consumed.

SPECIAL RULING

Of course we know practically every business firm has a different system of keeping books. Lots of them use Special Ruled sheets to keep their accounts on. If at any time in the future you are in need of Ruled Ledger Sheets we would be more than pleased to take your order. We can duplicate any kind of ruling and desire your patronage.

MR. CUSTOMER

Did you ever stop to consider how many operations it takes to print an envelope corner, letter head or any other commercial printing? Let us enumerate them for you:

- First—Entering upon books.
- Second—Selecting the proper stock.
- Third—Arranging the type matter neatly.
- Fourth—Locking up for press.
- Fifth—Cutting stock.
- Sixth—Choosing the proper color of ink.
- Seventh—Printing job.
- Eighth—Wrapping and binding.

Now the job is ready for delivery.

We want to impress upon the minds of the public that it takes at least eight operations to perform any one job, and in doing this, we ask you to kindly look up your printing wants at once and not wait until you are out.

SERVICE

"Service" is our motto. When you overlook your printing needs and find you are OUT, give us a trial. We will be glad to render to you the best possible service. When we promise a job for Monday we mean it will be ready Monday and no other day.

We aim to please, and to please we must satisfy.

We will give you first class workmanship and the best possible quality.

QUALITY

Is one thing that the public demands, and it is the one necessity that attracts attention. Always bear in mind when you get a job printed at The Courier Job Office it will consist of QUALITY, combined with SERVICE. With these two items in view, it is a hard combination to beat. If you remember this we are sure you will always call on us to do your printing.

WORKMANSHIP

Is the pride of our establishment and has been in force for the past 40 years. When we set a Letter Head, Statement, Bill Head or any other job for a customer we take great interest in what we are doing and make it answer the purpose for which it is intended.

THE BIGGEST INDUCEMENT

Any one can offer for using the best of printing is that it PAYS—and pays big. If yours isn't making the proper impression—ain't bringing satisfactory returns—get the "best of printing" by giving your next order to

MR. FARMER

If there is one man who needs printed matter to increase his sales it is the Farmer. We would be pleased to furnish you with a standard line of Envelopes, Letter Heads, Statements, Shipping Tags or whatever your wants may be. How about a few Sale Bills to sell out a few pieces of machinery, corn, oats or household goods? If you are ever in need of any of the above, call in and we will take good care of you.

MR. DOCTOR

When out making a call, drop in and make a call on us. Look over our samples and see the High Grade workmanship we turn out. By so doing you will become more familiar with the printing art. We want everybody to see and know what GOOD PRINTING means and this is the only way they can secure the knowledge. Come whether you are in need of printing or not.

MR. LAWYER

We are confident that for the man who is before the public as much as the lawyer, there is nothing better known to promote his profession than a line of High Grade Stationery. We are prepared to take up this line and are sure we can satisfy you, and at the same time give you our special attention. Your confidence in us will not be misplaced.

SPECIAL ORDERS

We take great interest in all our customers and customers-to-be, and if you have some special line of work you would like to have printed, we are equipped to do the work for you. Our shop is the best equipped plant in Fayette county and the way in which we handle these special orders is amazing to our patrons.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES

If you are planning upon holding a dance, a large dinner or entertainment you will be in need of programs and other printed matter. We can assure you perfect satisfaction and would be pleased to have you consult our prices before going elsewhere. Our prices are normal considering the quality rendered.

SALE BILLS

Sale Bills are one way to advertising the merchandise you have to offer to the public. We take this opportunity to let you know we specialize on this line of work. Many are familiar with our work—others can familiarize themselves by calling upon us. We always arrange the copy to appear the most attractive and never let any item go under-displayed.

"The House of Service"

CHAPTER I.

The First Wayfarer and the Second Wayfarer Meet and Part on the Highway.

A solitary figure trudged along the narrow road that wound its serpentine way through the dismal, forbidding depths of the forest—a man who, though weary and footsore, lagged not in his swift, resolute advance. Night was coming on, and with it the no uncertain prospect of a storm.

He came to the "pike" and there was a signpost. A huge, crudely painted hand pointed to the left, and on what was intended to be the sleeve of a very stiff and outworn arm these words were printed in acoly white: "Hart's Tavern: Food for Man and Beast. Also Gasoline. Established 1788. 1 Mile."

On the opposite side of the "pike," in the angle formed by a junction with the narrow mountain road, stood an humble signpost, lettered, so indistinctly that it deserved the compassion of all observers because of its humbleness. Scrawling in his hurried passage, the tall stranger drew next to him, shivering toward the uncertain, traveler, and was suddenly aware of another presence in the roadway.

A woman appeared, as if from nowhere, almost at his side. He drew back to let her pass. She stopped before the little signpost, and together they made out the faint directions.

To the right up the mountain road Frog's Corner lay four miles and a half away; Pileston was six miles back over the road which the man had traveled. Two miles and a half down the turnpike was Spanish Falls, a railway station, and four miles above the crossroads where the man and woman stood peering through the darkness at the lone signpost, reposed the village of St. Elizabeth. Hart's Tavern was on the road to St. Elizabeth, and the man, with barely a glance at his fellow traveler, started briskly off in that direction.

He knew that these wild mountain storms moved swiftly; his chance of reaching the tavern ahead of the deluge was exceedingly slim. His long, powerful legs had carried him twenty or thirty paces before he came to a sudden halt.

What of this lone woman who traversed the highway? His first glimpse of her had been extremely casual—indeed, he had paid no attention to her at all, so eager was he to reach the directions and be on his way.

She was standing quite still in front of the signpost, peering up the road toward Frog's Corner—confronted by a steep climb that led into black and sinister timberlands above the narrow strip of pasture bordering the pike.

The fierce wind plinned her skirts to her slender body as she leaned against the pole, gripping her hat tightly with one hand and straining under the weight of the bag in the other. The ends of a veil whipped furiously about her head, and, even in the gathering darkness, he could see a strand or two of hair keeping them company.

Retracing his steps, he called out to her above the gale:

"Can I be of any assistance to you?"

She turned quickly. He saw that the veil was drawn tightly over her face.

"No, thank you," she replied. Her voice, despite a certain nervous note, was soft and clear and gentle—the voice and speech of a well-bred person who was young and a soldier.

"Pardon me, but have you much farther to go?" The storm will soon be upon us, and—surely you will not consider me presumptuous—I don't like the idea of your being caught out here."

"What is to be done about it?" she inquired, resignedly. "I must go on. I can't wait here, you know, to be washed back to the place I started from."

He smiled. She had wit as well as determination.

"If I can be of the least assistance to you pray don't hesitate to command me. I am a sort of tramp, you might say, and I travel as well by night as I do by day—so don't feel that you are putting me to any inconvenience. Are you by any chance bound for Hart's Tavern?"

"If so, I will be glad to let you behind and carry your bag."

"You are very good, but I am not bound for Hart's Tavern, wherever that may be. Thank you, just the same. You appear to be an uncommonly genteel tramp, and it isn't because I am afraid you might make off with my belongings." She added the last by way of apology.

He smiled, and then frowned as he cast an uneasy look at the black clouds now rolling ominously up over the mountain ridge.

"By Jove, we're going to catch it good and hard," he exclaimed. "Better take my advice. These storms are terrible. I know, for I've encountered half a dozen of them in the past week. They fairly tear one to pieces. You are a stranger in these parts?"

"Yes. The railway station is a few miles below here. I have walked all the way. There was no one to meet me. You are a stranger also, so it is useless to inquire if you know whether this road leads to Green Fanny."

"Green Fanny? Sounds attractive. I'm sorry I can't enlighten you." He drew a small electric torch from his pocket and directed its slender ray upon the signpost.

"It is on the road to Frog's Corner," she explained nervously. "A mile and a half, so I am told. It isn't on the signpost. It is a house, not a village."

large. "Thank you for your kindness. And I am not at all frightened," she added, raising her voice slightly.

"But you are," he cried. "You're scared—half out of your wits. You can't fool me. I'd be scared myself at the thought of venturing into these woods up yonder."

"Well, then, I am frightened," she confessed plaintively. "Almost out of my boots."

"That settles it," he said flatly. "You shall not undertake it."

"Oh, but I must. I am expected. It is important."

"If you are expected why didn't someone meet you at the station? Seems to me—"

"Hark! Do you hear—doesn't that sound like an automobile—ah!" The hoarse hunk of an automobile horn rose above the howling wind, and an instant later two faint lights came rushing toward them around a bend in the mountain road. "Better late than never," she cried, her voice vibrant once more.

He grasped her arm and jerked her out of the path of the oncoming machine, whose driver was sending it along at a mad rate, regardless of ruts and stones and curves. The car careened as it swung into the pike, skidded sideways, and then the brakes were jammed down. Attended by a vast grinding of gears and wheels, the rattling old car came to a stop fifty feet or more beyond them.

"I'd sooner walk than take my chances in an automobile rattlesnake like that," said the tall wayfarer, bending quite close to her ear. "It will fall to pieces before you—"

But she was running down the road toward the car, calling out sharply to the driver. He stopped over and took up the traveling bag she had dropped in her haste and excitement. It was heavy, amazingly heavy.

"I shouldn't like to carry that a mile and a half," he said to himself.

The voice of the belated driver came to his ears on the swift wind. It was high-pitched and unmistakably apologetic. He could not hear what she was saying to him, but there wasn't much doubt as to the nature of her remarks. She was roundly upbraiding him.

Urged to action by thoughts of his own plight he hurried to her side and said:

"Excuse me, please. You dropped something. Shall I put it in front of you in the tonneau?"

The whimsical note in his voice brought a quick, responsive laugh from her lips.

"Thank you so much. I am frightfully careless with my valuables. Would you mind putting it in behind? Thanks!" Her tone altered completely as she ordered the man to turn the car around—"And be quick about it," she added.

He Drew a Small Electric Torch From His Pocket and Directed Its Slender Ray Upon the Sign Post.

The first drops of rain pelted down from the now thoroughly black dome above them, striking in the road with the sharpness of pebbles.

"Lucky it's a lightning storm," said the tall traveler. "Better hop in. We'll be getting it hard in a second or two."

"You must let me take you on to the tavern in the car," she said. "Turn about is fair play. I cannot allow you to—"

"Never mind about me," he broke in cheerily. He had been wondering if she would make the offer, and he felt better now that she had done so. "I'm accustomed to roughing it. I don't mind a soaking. I've had hundreds of 'em."

"Just the same you shall not have one tonight," she announced firmly. "Get in behind. I shall sit with the driver."

If anyone had told him that this rattling, dilapidated automobile—ten years old, at the very least, he would have sworn—was capable of covering the mile in less than two minutes he would have laughed in his face.

Most before he realized that they were on the way up the straight, dark road the lights in the windows of Hart's Tavern came into view. Once more the bounding, swaying car came to a stop under brakes, and he was relaxing after the strain of the most hair-raising ride he had ever experienced.

Not a word had been spoken during the trip. The front windows were lowered. The driver—an old, hunched man—had uttered a single word just before throwing in the clutch at the crossroads in response to the young woman's crisp command to drive to Hart's Tavern. That word was uttered under his breath and it is not necessary to repeat it here.

The wayfarer lost no time in climbing out of the car. As he leaped to the ground and raised his green hat he took a second look at the automobile—a look of mingled wonder and respect. It was an old-fashioned, high-powered car, capable, despite its antiquity, of astonishing speed in any sort of going.

"For heaven's sake," he began, shouting to her above the roar of the wind and rain, "don't let him drive like that over those—"

"You're getting wet," she cried out in a shrill voice. "Good night—and thank you!"

"Look out!" rasped the unpleasant driver, and in went the clutch. The man in the road jumped hastily to one side as the car shot backward with a jerk, curved sharply, stopped for the fraction of a second, and then bounded forward again, headed for the crossroads.

"Thanks!" shouted the late passenger after the receding tail light, and dashed up the steps to the porch that ran the full length of Hart's Tavern.

A huge old-fashioned lantern hung above the portal, crackling and straining in the wind, dragging a star of light behind it, and threatening every instant to break loose and go frolicking away with the storm.

He lifted the latch and, being a tall man, involuntarily stooped as he passed through the door, a needless precaution, for giant, gigantic mountaineers had entered there before him and without bending their arrogant heads.

CHAPTER II.

The First Wayfarer Lays His Pack Aside and Falls in With Friends.

The little hall in which he found himself was the "office" through which all men must pass who come as guests to Hart's Tavern. A steep, angular staircase took up one end of the room. Set in beneath its upper turn was the counter over which the business of the house was transacted, and behind this a man was engaged in the peaceful occupation of smoking a corncob pipe.

An open door to the right of the staircase gave entrance to a room from which came the sound of a deep, sonorous voice employed in what turned out to be a conversational note. To the left another door led to what was evidently the dining room. The glance that the stranger sent in that direction revealed two or three tables covered with white cloths.

"Can you put me up for the night?" he inquired, advancing to the counter.

"You look like a fellow who'd want a room with heat," drawled the man behind the counter, surveying the applicant from head to foot. "Which we ain't got," he added.

"I'll be satisfied to have a room with a bed," said the other.

"Sign here," was the laconic response.

"Can I have supper?"

"Food for man and beast," said the other patiently. He slipped his pen upon a cracked call bell and then looked at the fresh name on the page.

"Thomas K. Barnes, New York," he read aloud. He eyed the newcomer once more. "My name is Jones—Putnam Jones. I run this place. My father and grandfather run it before me. Glad to meet you, Mr. Barnes. We used to have a hostler here named Barnes. What's your dear fer footin' it this time of the year?"

"I do something like this every spring. A month or six weeks of it puts me in fine shape for a vacation later on," supplied Mr. Barnes whimsically.

Mr. Jones allowed a grin to steal over his scamed face. He reinserted the corncob pipe and took a couple of pulls at it.

"I never been to New York, but it must be a heavenly place for a vacation. If a fellow's 'judge by what some of my present boarders have to say about it. It's a sort of play actor's paradise, ain't it?"

"It is paradise to every actor who happens to be on the road. Mr. Jones," said Barnes, slipping his big pack from his shoulders and letting it slide to the floor.

"Hear that feller in the taproom talkin'? Well, he is one of the leading actors in New York—in the world, for that matter. He's been talkin' about Broadway for nearly a week now, steady."

"May I inquire what he is doing up here in the wilds?"

"At present he ain't doing anything except talk. Last week he was troddin' the boards, as he puts it himself. Bustled. Up the line. Showed last Saturday night in Horville, eighteen miles north of here, and immediately after the performance him and his whole troupe started to walk back to New York, a good four hundred mile. They started out the back way of the open house and nobody missed 'em till next mornin' except the sheriff, and he didn't miss 'em till they'd got over the county line into our bailiwick."

"Four of 'em are still stoppin' here just because I can't get the heart to turn 'em out over the spare money to buy 'em tickets to New York. Here comes one of 'em now. Mr. Dillingford, will you show this gentleman to room eleven and carry his baggage up fer him? And maybe he'll want a pitcher of warm water to wash and shave in."

He turned to the new guest and smiled apologetically. "We're a little short of help just now, Mr. Barnes, and Mr. Dillingford has kindly consented to—"

"My word!" gasped Mr. Dillingford, staring at the register. "Someone from Little Old New York? My word, sir, you— Won't you have a— Little something to drink with me before you—"

"He wants something to eat," interrupted Mr. Jones sharply. "Tell Mr. Bacon to step up to his room and take the order."

"All right, old chap—nothing easier," said Mr. Dillingford genially. "Just climb up the elevator, Mr. Barnes. We do this to get up an appetite. When did you leave New York?"

Taking up a lighted kerosene lamp and the heavy pack, Mr. Clarence Dillingford led the way up the stairs.

He was a chubby individual of indolent age. At a glance you would have said he was under twenty-one; a second look would have convinced you that he was nearer forty-one.

Depositing Barnes' pack on a chair in the little bedroom at the end of the hall upstairs he favored the guest with a perfectly unabashed grin.

"I'm not doing this to oblige old man Jones, you know. I won't attempt to deceive you. I'm working out a daily board bill. Check three times a day and a bed to sleep in—that's what I'm doing it for, so don't get it into your head that I applied for the job."

Let me look at you. I want to get a good square peep at a man who has the means to go somewhere and get to boot enough to come to this god-awful place of his own free will and accord. Darn it, you look intelligent. I don't get you at all. What's the matter? Are you a fugitive from justice?"

Barnes laughed aloud. There was no mistaking the fellow's sprightly impudence.

"I happen to enjoy walking," said he.

"If I enjoyed it as much as you do I'd be leaping into Harlem by this time," said Mr. Dillingford sadly. "But you see I'm an actor. I'm too proud to walk."

The cracked bell on the office desk interrupted him, somewhat perceptibly. The lowest, meanest, most offensive white man that ever— But I am crabbish the old man's part. You ought to hear what he has to say about Mr. Munger. He can use words I never even heard of before. So that leaves just the four of us here, working off the two days' board bill of Bradley and the manager, Rushcroft's goods, and at the same time keeping our own skin clean. Miss Thackeray will no doubt make up your bed in the morning. She is temperarily a chambermaid. Cracking fine girl, too. Are you all ready? I'll lead you to the dining room. Or would you prefer a little appetizer beforehand? The taproom is right on the way. You mustn't call it the bar. Everybody in that little graveyard town down the road would turn over completely if you did. Hallowed tradition, you know."

"I don't mind having a cocktail. Will you join me?"

Sentenced to 30 Days.

Trickey Jackson, colored, was given 30 days to jail this morning by the mayor for soliciting on the streets.

She was taken up later in the day, being unable to raise the fine of $50. One other prisoner got 48 hours and one paid a $5 forfeit.

the return of Mr. Dillingford, who carried a huge powder-pitcher from which steam arose in volume. At his heels strode a tall, cadaverous person in a checked suit.

Never had Barnes seen anything quite so overpowering in the way of a suit. Joseph's coat of many colors was no longer a vision of childhood. It was a reality. The checks were an inch square and each cube had a narrow border of azure blue. The general tone was a dirty gray, due no doubt to age and a constitution that would not allow it to outlive its usefulness.

"Meet Mr. Bacon, Mr. Barnes," introduced Mr. Dillingford, going to the needless exertion of indicating Mr. Bacon with a generous sweep of his free hand. "Our heavy loads," Mr. Montague Bacon, also of New York.

WILL FURNACE COKE GO LOWER OR HIGHER, IS THE QUESTION

Time Near at Hand, If Not Now Here, When a Decision Must Be Made.

SOME SALES UNDER $4.00

But Bulk of Operators Stand Firm For Higher Figure on Fresh Sales and As Adjustment Prices For April Shipments: Foundry Unchanged.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—Connellsville furnace coke has come to a parting of the ways, where it must decide whether it will go lower or higher. A general gathering of operators last week a strong opinion was developed that furnace coke ought not to sell at less than $4.50. At the same time operators appear all to be committed to a policy of closing out of those products there is no demand at a fair price. The logical conclusion from such premises would be that coke is going to sell at $4.50, but coke has not carried out the program—at least not yet. What has occurred is that furnace coke of excellent grade has sold at $4.75, a new low price on this movement. It is true that "coke" has sold at less than this figure on various occasions, but it has not been at a standstill. It is true that coke has sold at less than this figure on various occasions, but it has not been at a standstill. It is true that coke has sold at less than this figure on various occasions, but it has not been at a standstill.

The line of demarcation between standard and off coke is now very clearly drawn, and there is no lack of uncertainty. The blast furnaces are striving to get the very best coke possible out of their furnaces and they find much difficulty in moving iron. Their product must be absolutely up to grade or it will not be sold. Consumers are expected to do so, seeing that all or nearly all the blast furnaces are refusing to revise prices under contracts. Pickands, Brown & Company, a Chicago interest, issued formal notice to all customers that it would adjust shipments, beginning March 21 to the reduced level, but that example has not been followed by other producers to any extent.

W. E. Snyder & Company report average prices for March at $21.14 for Bessemer and $20.00 for basic, both at Valley furnaces. The market is now quotable as follows:

Bessemer	$21.14
Basic	$20.00
Mailable	$21.14
Foundry	$21.14
Purge	$21.14

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.40. Average prices thus far this year, computed from market quotations from time to time, have been as follows:

Bessemer, Basic	Price
January	$22.50
February	$22.50
March	$22.50

Sales of spot furnace coke have been made at $3.75. Reports have it that shipments over 30 days could be secured at the figure, but while that may be the case no transactions have occurred. On the other hand there is the firm stand of many coke operators that $4.50 is the lowest price they will accept on fresh sales, and there is the further fact that operators with contracts subject to monthly adjustment of price are asking $1.50 is the adjustment price for April. It is possible they will get to be able to come to terms at this figure, particularly as many March adjustments were at $1.25, but at any rate a price less than $4.25 has not been generally conceded as yet, although considerable tonnage is moving at $4.50, the limit set by some operators. In view of these changes the market is quotable as follows:

Furnace	$4.25
Foundry	$4.50

There has been no material change in the foundry coke situation. Demand is relatively light and operators are making no special effort to force sales. As formerly, there is foundry coke of various grades to be picked up at $1.50, while makers of well-known brands are asking considerably more, some $3.50, and two or three $3.00. While there is little tonnage moved at the higher figures it is necessary to pay them in order to get certain brands, and a large quantity of coke is moving on contract at an adjusted price of $3.00.

Monthly average prices for spot and prompt coke have been as follows: Since the first of the year, averages last year having been uniformly $3.00 for furnace and $4.00 for foundry.

Month	Furnace	Foundry
January	$3.50
February	$3.50
March	$3.50

These averages represent the prices at which spot and prompt coke could be purchased, and should not be confused with computations or estimates of the average prices realized on shipments, which include allowance for the large tonnage of coke moving under contract. On a declining market such shipments tend to pull up the average while on an advancing market they exert the opposite influence. On an average market the contract price will be the higher, as regular service with one brand of coke is worth considerably more to a blast furnace than a collection of cokes, however good in quality individually, picked up indiscriminately as they chance to be offered in spot lots.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—acne—look in your face—dark eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that comfortable feeling that natural laxation which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. The 25c and 50c jars. All druggists.

COKE TRADE SUMMARY.

With no indications at present in sight that trade conditions are soon to become more encouraging, the coke operators have arrived at the firm determination to adhere to their policy of curtailment even to the extent of closing down their plants completely when the price of coke approaches unacceptably close to the cost of production.

Under the circumstances the situation is being met by week to week reduction in the number of active ovens, shortening working time and, in some instances, the blowing out of whole plants. Last week, 1,734 ovens were placed out of use, principally at plants of the furnace interests. Production dropped 2,113 tons, a decrease not in proportion to the increase in the number of idle ovens because many of the latter were not blown out at the end of the week. The effect will be more observable in the statistics for the present week.

There is a decided feeling that the furnace coke market has reached the parting of the ways and that it must soon go higher or lower. Some good coke has been sold at less than $4.50, but a considerable tonnage is moving at $4.50, making $1.25, at which some sales have been made, a fair average market price at this time, "steering" coke has sold down to $1.00, but this never figures in determining the price for furnace. Foundry remains unchanged at a range of $4.25 to $4.50, depending upon grade and quantity available.

The pig iron market continues in a flat position, while it may be on its back it is hardly looking upwards. The recent reduction in prices does not appear to have brought out any inquiry worth mentioning. Consumers are taking no larger deliveries than formerly on contract, nor would they be expected to do so, seeing that all or nearly all the blast furnaces are refusing to revise prices under contracts. Pickands, Brown & Company, a Chicago interest, issued formal notice to all customers that it would adjust shipments, beginning March 21 to the reduced level, but that example has not been followed by other producers to any extent.

STEEL AND IRON PRICE CUTS DISAPPOINTING TO THE TRADE GENERALLY

No New Buyers in the Market; A General Buying Movement Not Expected Until Fall, or Later.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Results of the recent price cuts on pig iron and steel products have proved somewhat disappointing. There is hardly any greater inquiry for pig iron than formerly, and while in steel products there has been materially heavier buying and specifying it is doubtful whether the deficit caused by the inaction during the period of weeks when the reductions were being awaited will be made up. If, however, the theory is entertained that business will have grown lighter, the price of pig iron and steel, if not the price of steel, has been in prospect, then the reductions have done considerable good.

What is universally regarded as significant is that the steel buying of the past week is by precisely the same classes of consumers that figured in the market earlier in the year, and it is of practically the same descriptions of material. No new buyers have come into the market, nor is steel being bought for purposes that were not previously in evidence.

While the new iron and steel market has not been long on trial there is already a decided disposition to conclude that not much by way of a general buying movement can be expected before next fall, nor is it universally predicted that a general movement will occur at that time.

Steel production in March was at a considerably lower rate than was shown by February or January, and the rate this week is still lower, perhaps not more than 75 per cent of capacity. Many large independents have been operating at only about 60 per cent, but the United States Steel Corporation has shown a much higher rate. Whether these and other diversities in operating rates will affect the situation as to adherence to present, recognized market values remains to be developed.

Buyers have already begun to express expectations that further price reductions will occur in June, despite announcements that present prices are to hold for the remainder of the year. Earnings statements for 1912 are being studied in connection with the question of price prospects.

All Furnaces Out.

For the first time in several years, no blast furnaces are operating in Hubbard, Ohio. Both stacks of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company are idle and in the district six furnaces are down.

PITTSBURG UNIVERSITY PREPARES TO OBSERVE CHARTER CENTENNIAL

Miss Irene Hopkins, Connelville, Named on Committee to Plan at Commencement Time.

Special to The Courier.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—The centennial anniversary of the granting of a university charter will be observed by the University of Pittsburgh this year, as it was in 1819 that the legislature altered the charter of the old Pittsburgh Academy, the second oldest educational institution west of the Alleghenies, to form the Western University of Pennsylvania. This in turn was changed in 1903 to the University of Pittsburgh.

Exercises commemorating the event will be held during commencement week, June 10-13. A feature of the week will be a mammoth alumni smoker, scheduled for June 11. On the 12th there will be three big public sessions at which speakers of national reputation will be featured, together with prominent Western Pennsylvanians who will speak on historical incidents associated with the University's long career. The annual alumni banquet will be on June 12.

GROCERY PROFITS HIGH

Increase in Great Britain $45,000,000 During a Year of War.

LONDON, March 7 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—According to Arthur J. Giles, secretary of the British Grocers' Federation, profits of the British grocery trade increased about $45,000,000 a year during the war.

"The Food Controller," Mr. Giles said, "has been the grocers' real friend for the last four or five years, in enabling them to dispose of all their surplus stock, much of which the public would no longer look at prior to the war."

"That is one of the good things the war has accomplished. It has been a variable spring cleaning for the grocers."

"A further great asset was the registration of customers, which insured the grocer a trade without his having to work it up by his own personality."
